Excerpt: ... is it among the learned men en earti.. to iind out the original of the Nile.--IShe kept no house, because she would not be taxed; nor keep her treasure in her hands, for fear she should be robbed; nor let it out without good bonds and mortgages, for fear of being cheated; although she ever cheated all shfc could, and was herself so great a cheat, she cheated her own body of its food, and her own soul of mercy. And yei this cursed wretch had but one child in all the world to give it to, whom she brought up so, she knew no more how to make use of it than her mother did. Since gold then was her god on earth, is it not just that she should have her belly-full in hell? Epkn. When her tormentor had done speaking, I asked her whether what he said were true or not?--To this she answered me, No; to my grief it is not. How! to your grief? said I. Yes to my grief, said she: Because, were that which my tormentor tells you true, I should be better satisfied; he tells you, that it is gold that he pours down my throat; but he is a lying devil, and speaks falsely: were it but gold, I never should complain; but lie abuses me, and in the stead of gold he gives me horrid stinking sulphur: Had I my gold, I should be happy still; which I so truly value, that if I had it here, I scarce would bribe heaven with it, to be removed from hence. I could not forbear telliug my conductor,! was amazed to hear a wretch, in hell itself, so to doat upon her riches, and that too, whilst in the tormentor's hands. Ang. This may (said he) convince you it is sin that is the greatest of all evils, and where love of that prevails, that soul is lost forever: And therefore it is the greatest of all punishments to be abandoned to the love of sin. The love of gold (to which this cursed creature is given ...
